

TAYLOR

THE ZEST OF TEXAS

Taylor Economic Development Corporation

CHOOSE TAYLOR
WE'RE BRIMMING WITH GUSTO AND TRUE TEXAS FLAVOR:

Taylor actively supports a diverse set of businesses, such as restaurant and food business, agribusiness, light manufacturing, and advanced technologies.

Taylor hosts thousands of jobs in the retail, service and tourism sectors plus more than 1,500 jobs among more than 20 companies make up Taylor's primary industrial base.

Taylor is already on the leading edge of emerging energy technologies – One of the most advanced energy-management centers in the U.S. directs the flow of electric power for 22 million customers from the Taylor NOC, employing 650+ people.

Taylor's lower land costs and property tax values have consistently been an advantage over most other cities in Central Texas.

East Williamson County Higher Education Center for workforce training

New 75-acre, $8 million, Taylor Regional Park and Sports Complex

Retail pad sites and store fronts ready for development and fast-track permitting process

$40 million in infrastructure improvements underway

Taste the Flavors of Success

Expect the Zest...Business is Cooking in Taylor, Texas.

Taylor serves up a zesty reputation and appetite and for its production and appreciation of quality food. Ideally located just 30 miles northeast of Austin, and with a connoisseur's gusto for business, Taylor provides the finest ingredients to enable emerging and growing companies to create delectable and inspiring new ideas and initiatives.

Taylor provides easy and convenient access to Austin-Bergstrom International and Georgetown Municipal airports, AMTRAK Rail, and two of Texas' newest state highways, making us a very profitable location whether your business is just starting up or expanding. While our city is still growing, thousands of acres of open space remain preserved, and hundreds of select acres are available for development. Municipal efficiencies and responsiveness make working with us a pleasure.

"The Barbecue Capitol of the World" was Taylor's billing in the early seventies when it was a forerunner of today's Barbecue Cook-off's. The tradition has continued throughout the last four decades with a variety of barbecue restaurants garnering praise from Southern Living, USA Today, the Food Network and more. Sink your business teeth into the rich and nourishing flavors of Taylor and realize the benefits our location, labor and resources provide to help your business sizzle.

For more information visit us online at www.taylorredc.org or call us at 512.352.4325 to learn how you can grow in Taylor.

COME EXPERIENCE THE GUSTO OF TEXAS, WITH A SPRINKLE OF SPIRIT, A DASH OF CHARM, AND A SPOONFUL OF HEART from right from next door and conveniently located on the famous "Barbeque Trail".

CONTACT US

Business Development
Jason Ford, President/CEO
jason.ford@taylorredc.org

TAYLOR
ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION